Surgeon mows down parking attendant — for writing him a ticket

By R. NEALE LIND / Weekly World News

PORTLAND, Ore. — A self-important rich man who thought his money placed him above the law was ordered to pay an airport parking attendant $1 million after he cursed her out and rammed her with his car, twice — because she asked him to please move his car!

...and now millionaire doc owes her $1 million, says jury!

A Multnomah County jury says millionaire neurosurgeon Dr. Darrell Brett, 41, must pay Parking Control Representative June Grittman $200,000 for physical and emotional injuries and another $800,000 in punitive damages after the incident at the Portland Airport.

"He was blocking traffic and I asked him politely to please move his car," says Miss Grittman, 51. "He says, 'How much is the ticket?' and I told him it was $25. He says, 'Go ahead and write me up.'

"But when I started to write the ticket, he started getting abusive. He got out of the car and grabbed my arm, swearing at me, telling me I was 'a nothing,' saying, 'I make $3 million a year. I can buy and sell you.' "

Miss Grittman kept her temper and retained her dignity, standing in front of Dr. Brett's sleek Mercedes-Benz and writing the ticket.

"But then Dr. Brett changed his mind and wanted to leave. By that time, he was blocked in by traffic. I kept writing the ticket and he kept getting more and more abusive, calling me every filthy name in the book. I had my head down, writing when all of a sudden I heard my coworker, Linda, calling 'Stop!' Just then I felt the car strike my knees. Then he backed up again and struck me harder. The impact of it threw me onto the hood and my duty belt caught on the hood ornament so I couldn't free myself. As he kept pulling forward, my feet were dragged underneath the car."

At the trial, Dr. Brett claimed he accidentally let up on the brakes and didn't mean to hit Miss Grittman. But 19 witnesses told the court there was no doubt the ramming was intentional.

Although Miss Grittman is able to walk and is still working, her doctors say her knees, hamstrings and lower back will never be the same. She still needs expensive physical therapy.

Nevertheless, she says: "It wasn't the money I was after. I took him to court to show him he needs to be responsible for what he does to others — no matter how much money they earn or what their job is."

GUILTY! While on the stand, Dr. Darrell Brett claimed he accidentally let up on the brakes and didn't mean to hit Miss Grittman.

Daughter's message from beyond the grave . . .

MOM, MY HEAD IS MISSING!

STRANGLED: Rita Melton.

Medical examiner gave murder victim's head to researcher — and it's legal!

DISTRAUGHT mother Patricia Cadena holds a picture of her daughter Rita.

GAINESVILLE, Fla. — Patricia Cadena faced every mother's worst nightmare when her daughter was murdered . . . then she learned that the medical examiner had secretly swiped the young woman's head!

By MICHAEL FORSYTH
Weekly World News

Shockingly, the pathologist, without Mrs. Cadena's knowledge or consent, removed the head of murder victim Rita Melton and handed it over to an anthropologist!

Although the body was cremated and Mrs. Cadena was given the ashes, the loving mom realized Rita's head was missing — thanks to an uncanny message from beyond the grave.

"There was this feeling pounding at me 24 hours a day," recalls the 62-year-old widow. "It was as if Rita was saying, 'Mom — my head, my head!' "

The ordeal began in August 1988 when the nude body of 32-year-old Rita, who'd been missing for four days, was found at a roadside.

The corpse was taken for an autopsy by Gainesville Medical Examiner William Hamilton, who determined she had been strangled.

Strangely, Mrs. Cadena says she was only allowed to see the remains AFTER they were cremated.

She had an uneasy feeling something was wrong — and kept sensing her dead daughter was trying to communicate with her.

"I even had a recurring nightmare in which I found Rita's jaw in a zip-lock bag on a laboratory shelf," reveals Mrs. Cadena, who has three other daughters. The anguished mother repeatedly asked lawmen investigating the murder what had become of her child's head.

"They told me, 'Are you wacky? Why would we keep your daughter's head?' "

In April 1990, after nearly two years of pestering, exasperated lawmen agreed to make some inquiries — and quickly located the head.

"It was in the sub-basement of the Museum of Natural History, at the University of Florida," says Mrs. Cadena.

It took months before she was allowed to visit the underground office, which belonged to Dr. William Maples, a professor of anthropology and director of the C.A. Pound Human Identification Lab.

"From floor to ceiling, there were shelves full of human skulls," she recalls. "Dr. Maples got one down."

Mrs. Cadena — a former dental hygienist — was easily able to identify her daughter from distinctive dental work.

"There was no doubt, it was Rita," she says. Dr. Maples showed her how he had used the skull in a gruesome video demonstrating identification techniques. "He was really proud of it," says the mother.

Amazingly, it wasn't until August 1991 (three [illegible] officials grudgingly agreed to release the skull and it was reunited with Rita's ashes. Angry Mrs. Cadena feels that her family was victimized twice.

"Initially I felt that Rita's murder was the worst thing that could have happened to her in terms of degradation — until I learned what the medical examiner had done," she says.

Medical Examiner Hamilton says studying victims' body parts can lead to big advances in science, but insists the head wasn't grabbed purely for research.

"I decided to retain the skull for evidence in possible criminal proceedings," he explains.

Mrs. Cadena sued Hamilton for $3 million last year, but lost. According to Florida law medical examiners can do what they want with body parts without consulting family members.

But the plucky mom is fighting to change that.

She's supporting new legislation proposed by state lawmakers that would strictly limit what real-life "Quincys" can do with bodies. She says, "I'm looking forward to telling my story to the legislature."

LOST TRIBE OF DINOSAUR PEOPLE FOUND IN AFRICA!

Discovery rocks scientific world!

By TONY CASSIDY / Weekly World News

A team of French scientists has made what is being hailed as the most startling discovery in modern history — it found a tribe of dinosaur people living in the jungles of Africa!

Incredibly, the savages, who speak in grunts and howls, have bone-like spines protruding from their backs, much like the ridges of dinosaurs and even a few present-day reptiles.

Spiked humans are cousins to monster reptiles

"The amazing thing is that the spines, some of them up to 14 inches long, actually grow out of their backs," declared Dr. Jeanne Latan, leader of the research expedition. "Even the tribal children have spines.

"Their growths may be caused by some sort of genetic mutation, or these people have actually evolved from dinosaurs.

"Not only have we found a unique species of humans who appear to have evolved from prehistoric reptiles, but the existence of the vanish from the Earth . . . that they still exist on the African continent."

Dr. Latan, a professor of anthropology at the University of Paris, whose team lived among the dinosaur people for eight weeks, announced the amazing discovery at a news conference in Gulu, Uganda.

However, she refused to pinpoint the tribe's location other than to say their village is in a dense jungle area near the Albert Nile River, just west of here.

"The last thing we want is to have hordes of scientists and reporters rushing to the village," she explained. "These are truly prehistoric people in every sense of the word. We must protect them from the outside world.

"A small team of experts in appropriate fields of science will be allowed into the area for a study taking no longer than absolutely necessary. We must do nothing to upset their way of life."

ABOVE, spikes protrude from the backs of these members of the dinosaur tribe. At left, the monster reptile believed to be a distant relative of the Stone Age people.

NEW STUDY REVEALS THE 4 SECRET KEYS TO HAPPINESS!

By DENNIS DEVANNEY / Weekly World News

You can unlock the door to a happy life by following four simple keys to happiness, leading psychiatrists say in a new report.

Here are the four special keys outlined by expert Dr. Paul Fink.

1. ATTRACT AND MAINTAIN LOVE AND FRIENDSHIP

● Make a commitment that your spouse is your top priority, and that other family members and friends come in a strong second when they need help and attention.

● Share time together. Try to eat at least one meal a day with your spouse or loved one. See friends on a regular basis. Keep in contact with out-of-town friends.

● Be supportive of others. Make it a habit to express appreciation of loved ones and friends. Be generous in praising them. When you are supportive of others, it's likely they will be supportive of you.

● Encourage honesty and open communication with your loved ones and friends. Talk out problems.

● Accept your friends and loved ones as they are. Don't try to change their personalities.

2. MAINTAIN SELF-ESTEEM

● Set realistic goals and try your best to accomplish them. If you are determined to run as well as an Olympic athlete, you'll always fall short of your goal. Realize you'll never be 100 percent successful in everything.

● Be yourself. Don't compare yourself with other people.

● Focus on your successes, not your failures.

● Give yourself credit for your accomplishments. When you succeed at something, or when you show qualities of patience, understanding and support of others, give yourself credit.

3. PUT MORE FUN IN YOUR LIFE

● Schedule a daily "mini-vacation" in your mind. Take 20 minutes to read, daydream, walk or take a nap.

● Seek out fun-loving friends. Spend time with those who greet you with a smile, like to share a joke or never hesitate to offer a compliment. Join social clubs, company sports teams or church groups.

● Get involved in fun projects with others. Get a group of friends together and learn to water-ski, play tennis or paint.

● Take regular vacations, but be careful to plan them well in advance so you don't become a victim of "vacation stress."

4. MAINTAIN YOUR HEALTH

● Follow a general healthy lifestyle by eating a balanced diet, maintaining proper weight and getting enough exercise.

● Establish a daily routine. Studies show you'll sleep better if you learn to wake up, eat and go to bed at the same times every day.

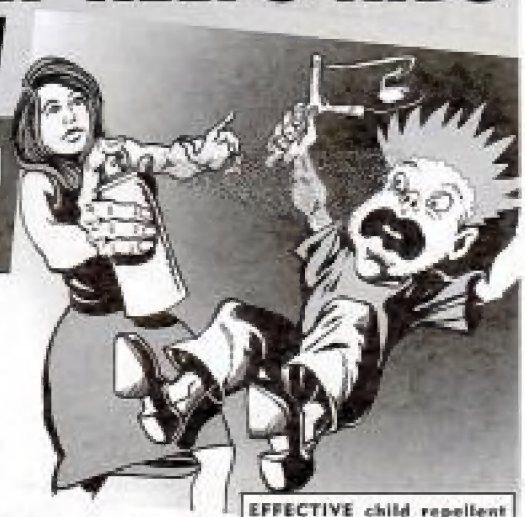
NEW BRAT-B-GONE SPRAY KEEPS KIDS AWAY — JUST LIKE BUGS!

Amazing new child repellent keeps rug rats out of your hair!

By ELAINE ROBERTS
Weekly World News

PROMOTING FAMILY HARMONY: Sandra Morea, president of the company that sells the spray, believes too much togetherness is bad.



EFFECTIVE child repellent will change the way family members coexist.

NEW YORK CITY — You'll never be bothered by unruly or overly affectionate children again thanks to an amazing new child repellent that is guaranteed to keep kids out of your hair for hours!

Brat-B-Gone aerosol spray contains harmless enzymes that have no effect on adults but can cause minor eye irritation, stomach upset and other transient symptoms in children who inhale it.

The new product is not without its critics. But Sandra Morea, president and founder of the firm that developed and markets the spray, says Brat-B-Gone promotes family harmony by temporarily separating children and adults within the home.

"Research proves that family harmony suffers when kids and parents encroach on each other's space," she said.

"With Brat-B-Gone spray, a parent can keep the kids at bay for hours at a time. When the spray dissipates, both parents and children have had plenty of time to relax and gather their thoughts.

"At that point, interaction between parent and child becomes pure joy — and that's what Brat-B-Gone is all about."

Mrs. Morea developed the spray after having what she called "a vicious shouting match" with her own children, ages 7 and 9.

"I hated myself for yelling at them like I did," she explained. "But I had just gotten home from the office. I was dog tired. And I exploded when they hit me with barrage of questions and demands the moment I walked in the door.

"I knew there had to be a 'kinder, gentler way' to bring children and parents together. The next day, I contacted a friend of mine, a chemist, and asked him about the feasibility of creating a child repellent.

"That was in 1989. The result is the Brat-B-Gone aerosol we're marketing today. Our research shows that Brat-B-Gone can be especially helpful for latchkey kids and working parents who have to conduct all the family's business in the evenings after a long day apart."

Mrs. Morea said Brat-B-Gone be available nationwide by next fall.

12 MONEY-STRETCHING TIPS TO SAVE YOU BIG BUCKS!

By EDGAR SMYTH / Weekly World News

You can save thousands of dollars every year by following these money-stretching tips from Jackie Iglehart, editor of The Penny Pincher newsletter:

● Plan your menus around what's in the weekly sales flier from your local market. Then place your coupons in an old envelope and write your shopping list on the back so the coupons will be handy at the store.

● When food items are on sale, purchase extra ones and fill up your pantry. If you save 25 percent on sale foods, that's the same as investing your money and getting a 25 percent return.

● Weigh pre-packaged produce items. Some heads of lettuce weigh as much as ¾ of a pound more than others. And bags of carrots can weigh as much as an extra ½ pound each.

"I routinely get $3 worth of free fruits and vegetables this way every week," said Miss Iglehart.

● If you must have pre-sweetened cereal, which is expensive, mix a box of unsweetened cereal with each box of sugar-coated cereal.

● Stretch each box of macaroni and cheese by adding a cup of elbow macaroni. You won't lose any of the flavor.

● Use glass baking dishes and you can lower your oven temperature 25 degrees.

● If you're over 50, ask your bank if it offers free checking for seniors. If it doesn't, find a bank that does.

● When making a long distance call, set an egg timer to limit the length of the call.

● Instead of throwing your pocket change in a piggy bank, use it to cut down on any outstanding balance you may have on a credit card or other bill.

● Organize a kids' clothing swap in your neighborhood or church.

● When buying eggs, get the small size. They're cheaper than large or medium and your family won't be able to tell the difference.

● Study your homeowner's and auto policies. You may be paying for coverage you don't need.

"My family cut insurance costs by $1,200 a year," said Miss Iglehart. "We raised our deductibles, stopped collision coverage on an older car and discovered we were insured for furs and jewelry even though we didn't own any."

BIBLE EXPERT'S SHOCKING WARNING

Weather disasters Christ will return

SEVERE WINTER weather that lashed the U.S. in 1996 was described as the worst in 100 years. "Pray ye that your flight be not in winter . . . for then shall be great tribulation, such as was not since the beginning of the world." — Matthew 24:20-21

Copyright © 1997 Weekly World News

There's an up side to the devastating rainstorms, blizzards, tornadoes and earthquakes that have ravaged America in recent times: They are all signs that Jesus is about to return to Earth!

THE REV. Theodore Bernel is one of the world's top experts on Biblical prophecy.

"The Bible has clearly warned us that the Second Coming of Christ will be preceded by an array of natural disasters — and the bruising weather and frightening geological disturbances we've encountered recently fit the bill," declares Rev. Theodore Bernel, one of the world's leading experts in Biblical prophecy.

"The evidence for an imminent return of Jesus is overwhelming!"

The March floods that killed scores of people in Indiana and Kentucky were foreseen in the Bible as one of the signs that the return of Jesus — as well as the end of human history — was about to take place, says Rev. Bernel. "Revelation 12:15 states, 'And the serpent cast out of his mouth water as a flood.'"

The brutal winter weather that lashed the U.S. in 1996 — officially listed as the worst in 100 years — is another key sign, says Rev. Bernel.

"Christ indicated that winters would be harsher than ever in the period just before he returned.

"In Matthew 24:20-21, He tells us, 'Pray ye that your flight be not in winter . . . for then shall be great tribulation, such as was not since the beginning of the world.'"

The recent increase in severe earthquakes around the globe is also a sign we are living in the End Times, the expert notes.

Revelation 11:13 paints the following chilling picture of the world's last days: "And the same hour was there a great earthquake, and the tenth part of the city fell, and in the earthquake were slain of men seven thousand."

Indeed studies have shown a dramatic increase in earthquakes in the past 50 years, says Rev. Bernel, of Butte, Mont. "In the 1940s there were just 41 earthquakes measuring above 6.0 on the Richter scale; in the 1950s there were 475; in the 1980s there were 1,085; and in the 1990s experts project 1,540!

"It's like steadily increasing labor pains, as the world readies itself for the return of Our Lord."

The Good Book also speaks of tornadoes like the ones that ripped through Arkansas earlier this year. In Ezekiel 1:4

Killer earthquakes

EXPERTS predict there will be 1,540 major earthquakes during the 1990s. "And the same hour was there a great earthquake, and the tenth part of the city fell, and in the earthquake were slain of men seven thousand." — Revelation 11:13

Large-scale flooding

MARCH FLOODS in Indiana and Kentucky were foreseen by the Bible: "And the serpent cast out of his mouth water as a

the prophet declares: "And I looked, and, behold, a whirlwind came out of the north, a great cloud, and a fire infolding itself."

And the droughts that have plagued America's farmers — and reduced much of Africa to a parched wasteland — were also foretold by the Bible. In Haggai 1:11, God says, "I called for a drought upon the land, and upon the mountains, and upon the corn, and upon the new wine, and upon the oil, and upon that which the ground bringeth forth."

But nasty weather and natural disasters aren't the only hints that Jesus is about to come back. Here's more proof that we're living in the End Times, according to the experts:

CONFLICTS, FAMINES AND EPIDEMICS — Jesus said that in the days just before His Second Coming, the world would go haywire. In Matthew 24:6-7, he warns: "Ye shall hear of wars and rumors of wars . . . For nation shall rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom and there shall be famines and pestilences." In the past seven years at least 82 military conflicts have broken out around the world; food shortages have plagued countries such as Somalia; and AIDS has killed millions.

FALSE MESSIAHS — According to Matthew 24:24, close to the return of the real Jesus, "there shall arise false Christs and false prophets." Sure enough, madmen such as UFO suicide cult leader Marshall Applewhite and others of his ilk have never been more prevalent.

ANGEL SIGHTINGS — Angels heralded Christ's first ago in Bethlehem — and there have recently been hundreds of reports across the U.S. of angels being spotted.

Said Rev. Bernel, "The angels often tell people, 'He is coming . . . very, very

MENOPAUSE CAN BE THE BEST YEARS OF A WOMAN'S LIFE!

The change of life doesn't have to mean a change for the worse, a new study shows — in fact, the menopausal years can actually be the best time of a woman's life!

By SANDRA LAVIN
Weekly World News

"Menopause isn't something that women should fear or dread. Actually, it's a time of their lives they can truly enjoy," declared Dr. Ravenna Helson.

In the past, many studies showed that menopause triggered depression and other negative personality changes in women.

But Dr. Helson's Mills Longitudinal Study — which tracked 100 women from the time they left California's Mills College — found just the opposite.

"Women in our study, who were in their early 30s, showed high degrees of satisfaction and contentment," said Dr. Helson, a nationally known psychologist.

"They were more decisive, more confident, less sensitive to criticism, less angry at men and more tolerant than when studied in their early 40s.

"Many found themselves closer to their ideal selves than ever before in their lives.

"We took into account whether the women were taking estrogen therapy, whether their menopause was surgical or natural — and we still came to the same conclusion. We could find no evidence that menopause was related to life satisfaction or personality change.

"The bottom line is: Women have long feared menopause. But we've found most women make it through this time easily."

Girl, 17, guns down mom to stop her from marrying!

PISA, Italy — A 17-year-old girl shot her mom to death — to stop her from getting married a second time!

Devoutly Catholic Maria Buccini told police she did it to save her mother's immortal soul.

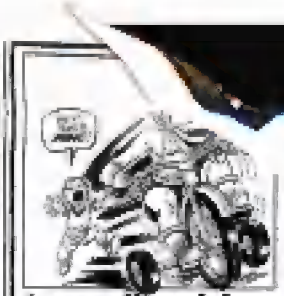
The teen said her mother had violated the laws of God when she divorced Maria's father two years ago in 1993.

"I prayed for her and God told me He forgave her," said Maria.

"But He said that marrying again would condemn my mother to eternity in Hell.

"So I had to kill her."

Stunned family friends say Maria had always shown great love for her mother.



Space alien abducts kid's tricycle

ULM, Germany — Dozens of witnesses watched in disbelief as a giant silver spaceship landed in a field at the edge of town. But their amazement turned to outrage as a pint-size alien emerged from the starship — and stole a little boy's red tricycle!

"We've got nearly 30 people who swear they saw a space alien about 4 feet tall swipe the child's tricycle right out of his hands," said police investigator Helmut Freiwald. "They say the culprit rode the tricycle up a ramp and into the spaceship just moments before the ship zoomed off into the sky."

The parents of heartbroken Angie Martens, 3, say they'll buy their son a new trike.

CHRISTIE . . .

HOLLYWOOD'S ANSWER GIRL

Q I was surprised to read that basketball bad boy Dennis Rodman, known for dressing in drag and dyeing his hair weird colors, was once married. Do he and his ex-wife remain on good terms?

— Nina R., Madison, Wis.

A Let's put it this way: The flamboyant Chicago Bulls rebound king's former wife Aneleka Bakes Rodman told People magazine, "If he was run over by a steamroller, I would watch the whole thing!"

BAD BOY Dennis Rodman dressed as a blushing bride for a publicity stunt.

Q What's this about gorgeous supermodel Tyra Banks hiring a guy just to read her fan mail before she does?

— Jon N., Toronto, Canada

A Tempting Tyra hired the mail-man because she's fed up with the mountain of raunchy letters she receives.

And she says one of the worst was a perverted letter from a preacher: "He got carried away saying what he'd like to do to me — even though he knew the Lord would strike him down for his sin!"

GETTING PERVERTED PREACHER MAIL: Tyra Banks.

Q I just loved that scene in the movie The Long Kiss Goodnight, when Samuel L. Jackson and Geena Davis high-dive into a freezing lake, right through the ice.

It looks like it must have been a lot fun to do. Did they enjoy it?

— Billy G., Charlotte, N.C.

A Not EXACTLY! "It was extremely painful," reveals Jackson. "Ever eaten a bowl of ice cream and gotten that little instant headache? If you multiply that by 100, that's what happens to your head when you go under water that cold. It feels like your brain is trying to pound its way out of your head."

Q I heard from a normally reliable source that George Burns will be appearing in an upcoming movie. How is that possible, given that the legendary funnyman recently passed away at age 100?

— Leon K., Los Angeles, Calif.

A Hollywood special effects geniuses will use computer wizardry to bring the cigar-puffing comic back from the dead — to reprise his role as God!

Incredibly, although George played the Almighty in the 1977 hit Oh God and two sequels, no existing footage of the star will be used.

Instead, the filmmakers will scan a sculpture of his head into a computer, then manipulate the image. For George's voice they'll blend together a mix of excerpts from old taped speeches and a mimic's impression.

The still-busy dead comedian's heirs will receive a $1 million-plus royalty for use of his likeness in the movie, The Best Man.

BACK FROM THE DEAD: George Burns.

Q As a 22-year-old single man, I admit I'm jealous of those hunky guys on the hit sitcom Friends. I bet they have a blast dating the three gorgeous actresses on the show, Jennifer Aniston, Courteney Cox and Lisa Kudrow. Does the cast spend most of their free time jumping in and out of bed with each other?

— Reggie F., St. Petersburg, Fla.

A Just the opposite. The TV friends have made a solemn pledge not to romance each other offscreen.

"We have made a verbal agreement that nothing is going to cross the friendship boundary," says David Schwimmer, who plays Ross.

The high-paid actors made the pact so that the show wouldn't be wrecked by lovers' tiffs, which ruin many TV series.

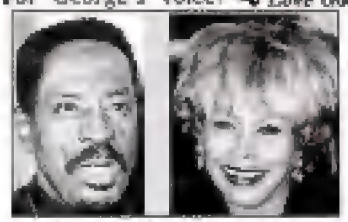
Q When I recently rented the film What's Love Got to Do With It, I was sickened by scenes showing singer Tina Turner getting the stuffing beaten out of her by her husband Ike. How does he feel about the way he was portrayed?

— Carol J., Concord, Mass.



MR. AVERAGE: Ike Turner and

A Ike believes he's gotten a bum rap. "I didn't beat Tina any more than the average guy beats his wife," insists the two-

National trend from chopsticks to silverware TRICKIER than Mr. Moto thought!

Klutzy Japs poking their eyes out — with FORKS!

Hundreds have wound up in hospitals!

By JOE BERGER
Weekly World News

TOKYO — Dozens of dingbat Japanese businessmen have landed in hospitals in recent months after they chucked their chopsticks in favor of forks — and wound up poking an eye out with the newfangled utensil!

"Many people here just cannot master the use of the fork, no matter how hard they try — and often their clumsiness ends in tragedy," said New York-born Nikki Izuta, who runs a school on Western etiquette for fat-cat Tokyo tycoons.

"For these poor people, eating with a fork is a real kamikaze mission. They jab themselves in the cheek, they jab themselves in the tongue, they jab themselves in the forehead — and all too often, they jab themselves in the eye and put their eye out. To think they're doing this just to impress American business associates is really very sad."

Since September 1996, at least three dozen klutzy diners from Takamatsu to Tokyo to Otaru have blinded themselves while trying to shovel in raw fish and rice with a fork — and hundreds more have gouged themselves bloody.

"I've seen them come into the emergency room with missing teeth, and with nasty cuts and gashes and fork marks all over their faces," said somber Dr. Susumu Sato. "And since January, I've personally treated five men and one woman with severe eye injuries.

"My advice to my fellow countrymen would be to stick with chopsticks — because those forks will be the death of us."

The killer silverware began claiming teeth and eyeballs last year after world leaders started pressuring the Japanese to drop their chopsticks and take up forks.

For years, experts say, millions of noodle-gobbling Japanese have been gnawing gaping holes in the world's priceless timber supply, mowing down our lush rain forests like an endless army of termites to make the chopsticks destined for Tokyo's trash heap.

Last year alone, fork-shunning sushi lovers used 24 billion pairs of chopsticks — enough to build 15,000 lavish homes. "Pressure from the international community has tempted many Japanese to try using Western-style tableware," sympathetic Nikki Izuta told reporters.

"But lots of wealthy businessmen want to abandon their old-fashioned chopsticks and learn to use Western eating utensils for purely selfish reasons — so they can conduct business in America and become even richer than they already are.

these bigshot businessmen Western table manners.

"But really, I never dreamed I'd have to have an ambulance and two paramedics standing by at every class just to keep them from committing hari-kari with a fork."

SHOCKING CONFESSION:

'I killed three space aliens for the CIA!'

By RANDY JEFFRIES / Weekly World News

WASHINGTON — A former government agent has come forth with a shocking admission: "I executed three space aliens for the CIA!"

The retired biologist-physician agreed to speak to Weekly World News on condition of anonymity. He produced documents, photographs and other convincing evidence to support his claim that he was summoned to a secret Arizona UFO crash site in 1965. There, he administered deadly injections to the E.T.s who had been injured in the wreck of their spacecraft.

The doctor was with the Central Intelligence Agency between 1954 and 1966. During those 12 years, his duties included performing pre-recruitment examinations on prospective agents to determine whether or not they would be capable of functioning in the stressful, physically demanding world of counter-intelligence. He was also an advisor on nerve gases and other deadly poisons — an expertise that earned him the code name "Dr. Toxic."

The 54-year-old former operative is now dying of bone cancer and says he wants to set the record straight about the existence of space aliens — and our government's attempt to cover them up.

"Those tiny, innocent faces have haunted me for 32 long years," he said. "But I was under orders to administer deadly injections and I obeyed them, despite the urgings of my own conscience.

"It all began on July 19, 1965, when two fellow agents came to my laboratory and escorted me to a waiting plane. I was flown to Tucson and from there taken by helicopter to a remote area of the desert. There were pieces of strange-looking metal all over the ground and 12 or 13 tiny bodies — creatures not of this world.

"I knew it was the wreckage of an alien spacecraft.

"When I arrived, the CIA agent explained what he wanted done with the three surviving creatures.

"The little large-headed beings huddled fearfully in a makeshift barbed-wire enclosure, under heavy guard. They seemed more frightened than hurt. But they were creating a problem. The government wanted to keep the crash a secret, fearing nationwide panic.

"If the aliens were kept alive, there would always be the risk of escape. It was decided that they must be terminated. It was easily the hardest thing I ever did. But I loaded three syringes with sodium pentothal and approached the cage.

"It breaks my heart to remember this. They actually seemed friendly, like they hoped to make friends and believed I wanted the same thing. They were very cooperative and didn't resist — even when I injected all three with the poison. They were dead in minutes."

The guilt-ridden doctor said he's heard accounts of similar cases that are currently being kept in top-secret Washington files.

He asked that his name be withheld even after his death so that his family might be spared unfavorable publicity.

ANONYMOUS former agent wants to set the record straight.

TERMINATED: Helpless space aliens were given deadly injections.

Angry Ed lets it ALL hang out!

College is for IDIOTS!

NEW STUDY SAYS MALE ANIMALS LIE FOR SEX!

I almost blew a blood vessel the other day when my idiot nephew asked me for a loan to go to college.

"Yo, Uncle Ed," he said, "it's the smart thing to do these days."

Yeah, you moron — it's the smart thing to do if you're a pinhead!

If you're so smart, what the hell do you need to go to college for?

I have a buddy who spent big bucks to get a degree in Fine Arts or some such thing. Now that's dumb.

If you want to know if a painting is fine art or not, just check and see if it's roped off with two security guards watching it like a hawk.

If it is, I think it'd be safe to say it's fine art — and I didn't have to go to some rip-off college to learn that, my friends.

I'm madder than a goldfish in a cat food commercial over this latest [illegible] study that claims animals lie! That's right, folks.

Seems that some egghead scientists observed male chimps making eating sounds like smacking their lips and pretending to pick up food off the ground and put it into their mouths.

When curious and hungry females showed up to chow down, the hot-to-trot males would jump 'em from behind!

"These male chimps, much like human males, were willing to try any trickery to have sex with the unsuspecting females," said the study. "In effect, the male chimps were lying in order to satisfy their sexual desires. Other male mammals like dogs and cats will even play like they are hurt or dead to lure an unsuspecting female into their clutches."

What in hell is this world coming to, folks? This is the stupidest money-wasting study I've ever read in my entire life and I think I'm going to vomit. Who the hell cares if animals lie like rugs, for crying out loud?

I got so much hate mail over something I wrote in a recent column that I had to drink half a bottle of Old Crow just to calm down. But hey, ladies, I'm stickin' to my guns on this one.

God really did give women little hands so they can wash the insides of glasses and pull stuff out of garbage disposals.

I'll be blunt. The human female was created as a living, breathing cleaning machine. And that's a fact, Jack.

And one more thing. When is America going to wise up and make year-round school attendance mandatory? And I mean year round, by jimminy. No Thanksgiving and Christmas vacations and no Spring Breaks.

We don't empty Sing Sing and San Quentin for the holidays, do we?

And we all know that [illegible] is no real difference between our prisons and public schools except the schools are more dangerous.

Let's put razor wire around every schoolyard in the nation and lock the little vermin inside for as many hours a day as the Constitution will let us.

BE HAPPY YOU'RE POOR — TOO MUCH MONEY CAN MAKE YOU CRAZY!

By ROBERT GREENEBAUM
Weekly World News

MAD BILLIONAIRES DISEASE IS REAL, SAY EXPERTS

Having too much money can drive you nuts and there's even a term for it — Mad Billionaires Disease.

Mega-bucksters suffering from the weird malady suddenly display the oddest behavior and in some cases become convinced they're capable of performing impossible tasks.

Car czar Henry Ford and billionaire Howard Hughes were definitely afflicted with the condition. Hotel queen Leona Helmsley and Ross Perot probably have it, say experts.

"Too much money can make you crazy," says Abraham Zalesnik, who has conducted studies of Mad Billionaires Disease.

"Henry Ford was the greatest example of it. He chartered a ship and sailed to Europe during World War I thinking he could stop the conflict by chatting with Germany's Kaiser. When he got there, he forgot about the Kaiser mission and amazed reporters by talking about plans for making farm tractors."

Howard Hughes had a particularly bad case of Mad Billionaires Disease.

"After amassing a fortune, Hughes ended up a recluse, hiding from the world, paranoid about germs," said noted expert Dr. Anthony Pietropinto.

Hotel queen Leona Helmsley showed signs of the malady when she started behaving like a real-life queen.

Dr. Pietropinto noted: "She became so detached from reality she was quoted as saying, 'Only the little people pay taxes.' " The media dubbed Leona "The Queen of Mean" — and she ended up serving time for income tax evasion.

Moguls with Mad Billionaires Disease often develop the notion that their wealth and power will enable them to undo wrongs, according to Zalesnik, author of numerous books, including Power and the Corporate Mind.

"They often feel themselves capable of anything and act in increasingly bizarre ways," said the expert. "They overestimate their influence, power and capacities."

Billionaire Ross Perot more than likely has the condition, believes Dr. Pietropinto. Perot is so convinced he has the answer to world problems he decided he belongs in the White House.

Said Dr. Pietropinto: "He invested part of his fortune in a bid to become President, a probable symptom of Mad Billionaires Disease."

Hubby's corpse gets erection when his mistress walks into funeral home

By KEVIN CREED / Weekly World News

RALEIGH, N. C. — Police were called to quell a disturbance at a man's funeral when the deceased developed an erection, prompting an altercation between his wife and his alleged mistress!

Funeral home spokesman Richard Glaff.

Cops say the dead man was lying in state, being viewed by his wife and their two daughters. At some point, a woman with whom the man was rumored to have been having an affair walked into the room.

It was at that exact moment that the deceased developed an engorgement of embalming fluid in the groin area. It prompted an argument between the wife and the other woman. The verbal bickering soon deteriorated into a physical confrontation in which at least two punches were thrown, according to witnesses.

A mortuary official is calling the incident "an unfortunate occurrence resulting from very bad timing."

"There was tension in the room, even before the erection occurred," said Richard Glaff, a spokesman for the unnamed funeral home. "You could feel the bad blood from the moment the other woman arrived. There was clearly no love lost between those two. What happened to the cadaver is actually very common and has nothing to do with sex. The muscles constrict as rigor mortis begins to set in. The 'tightening' process often forces pockets of embalming fluid to collect in normally flaccid areas like the cheeks, the tongue and — unfortunately — the penis.

"But when the widow noticed the 'activity' in the crotch of the deceased's trousers, she just went ballistic, screaming that the other woman was still interfering in her marriage even after her husband's death. One thing led to another and they were suddenly into a shouting match that erupted into a minor brawl." Police say no charges have been filed and both women have since apologized.

The dead man, an independent trucker, was 52 at the time of his heart attack death.

WEEKLY WORLD NEWS Sept. 13,

BE A LOTTERY WINNER... WE GUARANTEE IT!

Australian Millionaire Has Winning Lottery Secret!

Has averaged over 1 win a week for the last 3 years.

In Australia, the twice weekly "Lotto" is a pick 6 just like most places here in the United States. So, you can imagine how excited we were when we heard about an Australian millionaire who claimed to have a winning "Lotto" secret that has given him, on average, over 1 win a week for the last 3 years. We couldn't believe it!

Meet "Mr. Lucky"

All Claims Independently Verified!

A win a week! This we had to see. So, we contacted one of the world's most prestigious legal firms, and asked them to have their Australian office check it out and make "Mr Lucky" prove it! First we wanted to be certain that "Mr. Lucky" (real name, address and financial records were made available to our accountants), was indeed the Australian millionaire that he said he was, and just like he said, he was indeed a millionaire several times over. Then we wanted proof that he has really averaged a win a week for the last 3 years. Well, not only did he supply certified proof of his winnings, but he also pulled out copies of all his winning checks. Hundreds of them! We even had a professional photographer record and witness this fact. Yes! His secret works, and now we have written verifications that he has, in fact, won hundreds of times using his "Lotto" secret.

What's The Secret?

But how did he do it? Was it just dumb luck? Psychic ability to foretell the future? A powerful good luck charm? In truth it was none of these. "Mr. Lucky" is an extremely brilliant man. His secret is a clever mathematical formula that has increased the odds of having a win from the normal "million to one shot" to almost, what appears to us (for him at least), a guaranteed certainty. In fact, his system has even been checked and verified by the prestigious Department of Mathematics and Statistics, at the University of Auckland, in New Zealand. They have verified that the formula does indeed work, just as he said it would. And to prove how easy it could be, he even reduced the formula down to a simple hand held device that could automatically pick winning lottery numbers using either one of two different mathematical formulas. Either a selection of your 9 favorite numbers or a second formula, using your favorite 12

Now you can be a Winner Too!

Well, we asked, if this secret works so well, why hasn't it been used by others to reproduce "Mr Lucky's" phenomenal success? The answer is, that it has! In fact when first released in Australia, the "Lotto Super System," as it is called there, spread like wildfire gaining what we would call here, "cult status." As more and more people tried the formula, and we presume were winning, the National "Lotto" Office, knowing that the "Lotto Super System" was 100 percent legal, started a national campaign of press releases down playing the winning results of the formula, and in fact trying to ban it. Unfortunately for them, there is nothing like success, and just as long as "Mr Lucky" kept winning he kept using this amazing formula. To this day, he still uses his system.

We were convinced! This secret really works, and even better, if it works in Australia, it will work here in the United States! We checked and rechecked the documentation. We had it verified by an internationally acclaimed accounting firm and a prestigious university. Every word "Mr Lucky" said was true and we have all the papers to prove it!

Now it's your turn to duplicate his phenomenal winning streak. We are now making this easy to use, documented, winning "Lotto Super System" available in the U.S.A., for the first time. Now you can truly reduce the odds against having a 5 or 6 number winning ticket from the traditional several million to one, to as low as 1 in 481, and odds on prize amounts less than super jackpot, down to a number so low as to be almost a winning certainty. We guarantee it!

Guaranteed... You must win or your money back!

That's right! We guarantee it! If you try the "Lotto Super System" and follow the simple instructions included with the hand held selector, YOU MUST WIN! You can not lose! In fact, if you follow this system we guarantee you will be "A WINNER" within 30 days or simply return the "Lotto Super System" for a full, no questions asked, refund! You must have a lottery win in 30 days or your money back!

Why "Mr. Lucky" Gave Us His Secret.

Like everything in life, this offer comes with one condition. As we told you, "Mr. Lucky" is already a millionaire, several times over. At this point in his life, creating greater wealth for himself is less important than doing good for others. We have already told you that if you purchase your "Lotto Super System" and do not have a win, of some kind, in the first 30 days we will refund your purchase price. This is our NO QUESTIONS ASKED, MONEY BACK GUARANTEE! However, in the event you have a win over $10,000,000.00 (Ten Million Dollars), we ask that you donate 1 cent for every dollar you have won to your favorite charity in "Mr. Lucky's" name. This pledge is how we were able to convince "Mr. Lucky" to allow us to sell his system, at such a low, low price, all over the world.

You must act quickly, as we fully expect that once details of the fantastic "Lotto Super System" become widely known, "Lotto" authorities throughout the country will try to ban it as they are still trying to do in Australia. Order yours today!

Throat cancer victim can't stop smoking . . .

SO SHE STICKS CIGARETTES IN A HOLE IN HER THROAT AND KEEPS ON PUFFIN'

A REAL DRAG! Debi Austin keeps on smokin'.

By ALEX MORGAN
Weekly World News

Debi Austin smoked so many cigarettes she had to have her cancerous larynx cut out — but now she smokes through a hole in her throat where her voice box used to be!

As disgusting as that might sound, it's even do it. But believe it or not, the 46-year-old lady from California's San Fernando Valley steps out of her ter dinner, lights up and starts puffing away.

Miss Austin says she knows her startling ritual is ridiculous and swears she wants to kick the habit that she started when she was just 13 years is so bad that she can't resist the overwhelming temptation to light one up and stick it right in her neck.

You can bet people always stare when she sticks a lighted ciggie in her neck hole — and they really can't believe their eyes

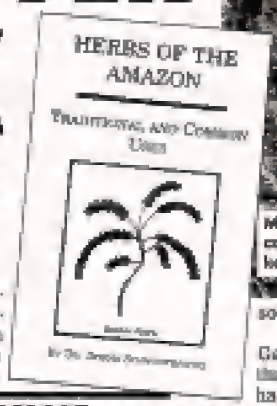
Rain Forest herb for just about everything — now it's available in the U.S.

MIRACLE HERB Una de Gato costs just pennies a day.

TAKE THIS JUNGLE PILL AND NEVER BE SICK AGAIN?

MIRACULOUS HERBS of the lush rain forests are only now coming to the attention of experts like Dr. Donna Schwontkowski, author of the book Herbs of the Amazon, left.

MEDICAL ADVISORY: Always consult a physician before treating yourself for any illness or changing your diet in any way.



SPECIAL REPORT
by Susan Ambrosino

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah — What is considered by many to be one of the most powerful herbs on the planet is now available in the United States without a prescription and costs just pennies a day. The rain forest herb Una de Gato (Cat's Claw) is not only relied on by millions of true and grateful believers, it is guaranteed to change your life in a matter of hours, days or in truly stubborn situations, weeks, excited experts report.

Incredibly, there's more. According to Dr. Donna Schwontkowski, author of the important book, Herbs of the Amazon, Traditional and Common Uses, Una de Gato, which means "Cat's Claw" in Spanish, is a treasured and revered component of a folk tradition that has been tested and proven over a history of continuous use spanning hundreds of years.

"Rain forest herbs like Una de Gato clearly are among the purest and most powerful found in nature," declared Dr. Schwontkowski. "They also are among the most thoroughly tested, having been used by the indigenous peoples of the Amazon for hundreds of years."

Dr. Schwontkowski isn't the only expert singing the praises of Una de Gato (Cat's Claw), which is derived from the bark of a thorny vine that grows abundantly in the Amazon rain forest.

Susan Ambrosino

The testimonials from ordinary people who now count themselves among a growing legion of "Cat's Claw believers" are full of praises so heartfelt and sincere that they often culminate in tearful expressions of pure joy.

E.F. of Pensacola, FL., flatly states: "Before I found Cat's Claw, I was dead — DEAD! This herb gave me more than a miracle — it gave me back my life."

D.S. of Elba, AL., is equally enthusiastic. He says: "The pain in my hip joints crippled me for years. Just two weeks after I started taking Cat's Claw I was walking like a 16 year old!"

C.G. of Statesboro, Ga., goes even further than that. She says: "I had problems for years and Cat's Claw stopped them dead in their tracks. I lay in bed last night and kept saying 'Thank you Lord for the Cat's Claw.' I am going on 83, jumping rope and doing exercise. Four years ago, I was almost to the point I needed a walking cane or a walker."

Mind-bogglingly, there's more. L.R., of Albuquerque, N.M., says: "Thanks to Susan Ambrosino and the Lord I found this wonderful rain forest herb. It has turned me back to life!"

D.C. of Lake Worth, FL., knows the power of Cat's Claw well. He says: "I take Cat's Claw every day like a vitamin tablet and my doctor called the results of my recent physical, which included a grueling, 26-function blood test, 'spectacular.'

"I have energy to spare and feel stronger, sharper and more alert than I did as a kid of 20. It might sound like a joke, but I'm as serious as a preacher when I say that I'm confident that I will never be sick again. Cat's Claw is God's herb. There's not a doctor alive, not a medical technology available, that could make anything like this herb. Only God can make a miracle — and that's exactly what Cat's Claw is."

Breakthrough research in Europe, where doctors routinely recommend herbs and herbal therapies to patients, is equally dramatic. After long and intensive study, an esteemed Austrian researcher identified several important alkaloids — active ingredients — found in the Cat's Claw herb. An extract is now being used as adjunctive therapy in the treatment of severe immune disorders.

It's no secret that a strong immune system enables the body to ward off or banish diseases and conditions of every description, even the most painful, debilitating and terrifying known to man.

Pure, powerful, premium Una de Gato (Cat's Claw) is, in fact, available without a prescription in the United States. You are strongly advised, however, to purchase yours from a reliable, trusted source. Infinity Herbs has sold and shipped premium, money-back-guaranteed Una de Gato (Cat's Claw) to over 10,000 satisfied customers worldwide since 1995. And at just $13 per bottle of 100, 500mg capsules, Infinity's Una de Gato (Cat's Claw) is a tremendous bargain. Please don't settle for cheap imposters or waste your hard-earned money on over-priced products costing $25 to $30 or more. Infinity's Una de Gato (Cat's Claw) is not only priced right, it is pure, powerful and certified. Not only that, Infinity's Una de Gato (Cat's Claw) is guaranteed to change your life — or your money back.

HOW TO GET THE RAIN FOREST HERB

She ripped out my heart and stomped all over it!

BERNIE in Clearwater.

Dear Dotti: This wonderful lady rented the condo next to mine. She's a lovely looking 70, although she always lies about her age. She knew every angle there was to make me fall in love with her. She made me feel like I was the only man in the world for her.

She's a very convincing liar. She has several men on the same line, always a few hundred miles apart. She says she's going to visit her grandchildren, but instead, she's off spending a week with another one of her men. Knowing she's been with another man makes me feel like she ripped out my heart and stomped all over it. Should I keep seeing her and hope the old playgirl will settle down eventually? — Bernie in Clearwater

Dear Bernie: At your age, you'd better settle for what you can still get your grubby hands on — especially since she's real looker!

CONFIDENTIALS

Dear Party Gal in Charlotte: Once he finds out about your past, he won't even want you to breathe near him.

Dear Same Old Stuff in Essex: Come out here to L.A. and get yourself a California girl who'll make you happy.

Dear Trained Animal in Phoenix: Does your selfish hubby also keep you weighing in at 230 pounds so no one will want to poach on his brain-dead pooch?

Dear Fed Up in Pierre: Don't tell your lady she's dumb as a truck tire — she's liable to back up and run you over.

Dear Can't Decide in Canaveral: Tell him he's a perfect "10" and just ignore his extra set of eyes!

Dear Confused in Pleasant: She's looking for the exit sign. Don't stand in front of it.

Dear Skirt Chaser in Bangor: Go ahead and have your fun. Just remember which side your bed is buttered.

Dear Ex-Hubby in Rochester: Instead of car payments for the new Jag, you should be paying alimony!

I love my husband and my girlfriend!

Dear Dotti: I recently married a real great guy who I love, but I also have a girlfriend I fell in love with two years ago. I did not want to be gay, so I left her. I tried to forget her, but I can't. My husband Frank treats me okay — but Cindy treated me great. Frank is always talking about other girls, and when I feel like I'm not the right woman for him I want to go back to her. What should I do? — Confused in New York

Dear Confused: Once a gay gal, always a gay gal. I say you should dump the big lug. You don't really care about him anyway — he's a man.

The man of my dreams is a suicide junkie!

BETH in Fresno.

Dear Dotti: I really care for this guy I'm seeing and I know that he loves me, but he is terribly suicidal. In the past six months he has slit his wrists twice. I know that if I get into a fight with him he will probably do it again. Should I stay with him or run for my life? — Beth in Fresno

Dear Beth: It makes my skin crawl to think of you finding this fruitcake bleeding to death in the bathtub. Call a shrink yourself and get him the help he needs!

Ex-hubby wants the house, the kid — & child support!

SAMANTHA in Dallas.

Dear Dotti: I've been divorced for about two years now and my ex-husband has been giving me hell for all that time. You see, I got our daughter and the house and child support, and he absolutely hates it. Now that our daughter is 13, my ex wants her and the house and for me to pay him child support. He's said all along that he wanted me out as bad as he is. What should I do? — Beth in Fresno

I'm a love-aholic — and it scares most gals away!

MARK in Dover.

Dear Dotti: When I meet ladies, I fall in love with them so fast that it scares them away. I guess I don't want them to leave so I tell them I love them. I dated one shapely lady and on the third night I asked her to marry me. We did it one week later. Now I'm divorced. What can I do to find someone to love me? — Mark in Dover

Dear Mark: Slow down, fella! Don't even think about marriage if you start billing-and-cooing before you've dated her for at least six months.

Will my little grandsons grow up to be sissies?

Dear Dotti: You always get to the heart of the matter, so you'd better tell me straight on this: Is my daughter-in-law making sissies out of my little twin grandsons by letting them sleep in the same bed with my son and her at night? — Harriet in Minneapolis

HARRIET in Minneapolis.

Dear Harriet: Let's just say she's not making self-assured, masculine, well-adjusted, straight guys out of the limp-wristed little fellas.

Alison Chierny faced a night of raw horro Curtea-de-Arges, Romania — when her tour bus of creatures she describes as werewolves. Trag sengers were slain in the nightmarish April 6 Burlington, Vt., college student escaped alive. T old gave this chilling account of her ordeal:

By ALISON CHIERNY

"Oh my God, oh my God — they're going to rip us to shreds!"

The shrill, panicky voice screeched in abject terror as one hairy arm after another smashed through the windows of the tour bus.

My fellow passengers squeezed into the aisle, weeping and clutching each other in disbelief. Then, suddenly, the door burst open and the first of the wolfmen leapt into the darkened bus.

That's when I realized that I was the one who was screaming

It seems impossible that jus hours before, I'd been enjoying European vacation — fulfilling lifelong dream of visiting beaut ful Romania, the homeland my maternal grandmother.

When my boyfriend Adam learned the tour included a vis to the castle of Vlad Tepes, th historical Dracula, he ha teased me mercilessly and i sisted on "arming" me with silver crucifix.

As the bus rumbled alon through the mountains, I exci

...edly snapped pictures of the misty landscape. But I couldn't help noticing an English girl sitting next to me looked very nervous, and I asked her what was wrong. "A peasant told me to watch out for vrykolakas — their word for werewolves," she said.

I just giggled. But as night fell, the thickening fog forced the driver to slow to a snail's pace and I began to feel uneasy. I swore I could see shadowy figures loping through the black woods. Suddenly, there came a long, mournful howl and my English friend sank her nails into my arm. "It's just a dog," I assured her.

But more howls rang out, as if we were surrounded by wolves.

The bus screeched to a halt — you could tell the driver had hit something.

As we looked around at each other, puzzled, the bus began to rock.

Then all hell broke loose. Windows started breaking in on all sides as clawed, furry hands reached greedily in.

When the first werewolf smashed through the door, the driver stood up and tried to stop it, waving a lit road flare in its face. But the thing knocked him down with one swipe, and the flare caught the floor of the bus on fire.

I'd been screaming my head off — really freaking out. But as the enormous shape lumbered down the aisle, I snapped out of it. I knew we had to get out of there. I turned to the English girl — and to my horror, saw her squirming body being dragged out the window!

All about me, hairy shapes clambered in the windows and grabbed passengers. There was a sickening sound of rending flesh and blood was flying everywhere.

The first werewolf moved toward me, a shaggy, two-legged mockery of a man. My hand gripped the cross at my neck and I shut my eyes. "God in Heaven, please protect me," I pleaded.

I felt myself being lifted up bodily and thrown over the bristly shoulder of the man-wolf. I must have fainted, because the next thing I knew, I was awakened by the cold outside air.

I was dumped on the muddy ground and the beast hunched over me.

Now, in the light of the full moon, I could clearly see its fiendish red eyes and jagged, shark-like teeth.

As its jaws yawned and it bore down on me, I suddenly remembered the "weapon" Adam had given me. Clenching the silver crucifix in my fist, I jammed it into the beast's right eye.

It tumbled back, let out a roar of fury and lurched away into the night.

Scrambling to my feet, I could make out the shape of the bus about 10 yards away, flames leaping out of the broken windows. I turned and ran crying into the woods.

Later I was told by the police no other survivors were found. The case has been officially listed as "a suspected terrorist act."

LUCKY TO BE ALIVE: American Alison Chinny, 22, is the only known survivor of the nightmare onslaught.

SOLE SURVIVOR Alison Chinny is rushed into intensive care by Romanian hospital staffers. She suffered hypothermia and "extreme emotional trauma," say docs.

HOW TO COLLECT $$$ FROM UNCLE SAM

Cash In On Government Giveaway Programs

A NEW BOOK WRITTEN BY A former Federal investigator tells how every American can collect their share of the $250 billion that will be handed out this year by Uncle Sam. The book explains how to collect social security before retirement, small business loans, income supplements, education benefits, farm loans, unemployment, job training, even welfare and food stamps. Here are just a few facts covered:

- How 59 million Americans collect monthly benefit checks from one program alone.
- How almost 3 million children get monthly benefit checks.
- How eligible couples collect up to $1100 a month to supplement the family income.
- How to qualify for disability pensions (over 3.5 million collecting but thousands more eligible).
- How to know when to quit work and start collecting monthly retirement benefits.
- How you may be cheating yourself out of cash benefits rightfully due you.
- How to collect unemployment benefits even if you quit your job or were fired.
- How to get free legal assistance.
- How to get a good-paying Federal job.
- How to get a $500,000 loan to start your own business. (It's simple and the book tells you exactly how to do it).
- How to collect a $250,000 loan to buy a farm or ranch, including livestock and equipment.
- How to collect a $27,000 loan for a mobile home, including lot.
- How to collect a $15,000 loan for home improvements.
- How to collect over $400 a month to attend college, trade school or get on-the-job training.
- How to get free medical coverage, including eye glasses and dental care.
- How to collect hundreds of dollars a month to pay your apartment rent, including utilities.
- How to get up to a $100,000 small business loan, even if you are poor and unemployed.
- How to obtain thousands of dollars in free Federal services.

With the help of this book, many families are now living more comfortably.

Although the book How To Collect Big Dollars From Uncle Sam could mean thousands of dollars to you, it is being offered at only $12.95 (plus $3 postage & handling).

Bodybuilders love it!

New sports drink made from human afterbirth!

DANGER: Placenta-based beverages can transmit fatal diseases.

By DICK WALKER / Weekly World News

ATLANTA — Bodybuilders nationwide are paying as much as $150 a pint for a bootleg sports drink made from human afterbirth, medical authorities confirm — and the stuff can kill you!

"This is beyond crazy, this is insane," declared Dr. Rene Renaud, a nutritionist who has been tracking the spread and use of placenta-based beverages since January.

"It all started with rumors that Eastern European athletes were bulking up and boosting their stamina and endurance by adding placentas to their diets.

"There was never any real proof that placentas do anything when ingested — and there still isn't.

"But unscrupulous people saw money in it. So it was only a matter of time before someone found a source for placentas and figured out how to deliver them to a huge, ready-made market.

"Like steroids, placenta-based beverages are extremely dangerous. But bodybuilding is extremely competitive — and the athletes who participate will do anything to get an edge on the competition."

NUTRITIONIST Dr. Rene Renaud.

Placenta-based beverages are nothing more than a blend of pureed afterbirth and tasty fruit juice concocted by bootleggers and sold on the sly nationwide.

It's a simple matter to obtain placentas from hospital orderlies and other low-level staffers who are only too happy to make a few extra bucks on the side.

But it goes without saying that the possession and use of placentas is illegal for anyone other than a licensed doctor, Dr. Renaud said.

"Placenta beverages are in short supply so prices are exorbitant," continued the nutritionist. "The going rate is around $150 a pint now. And as demand continues to increase, the price can only go up."

The risks of drinking human afterbirth are obvious and nothing to sniff at. AIDS and hepatitis are just two of the diseases that can be transmitted through the ingestion of the liquids and tissue, Dr. Renaud said.

Congress cracks down on lawyers who cause wrecks while chasing ambulances!

By TEDDY GERALD / Weekly World News

WASHINGTON — Congress is prepared to enact legislation that would make it illegal for shady, money-hungry lawyers to chase ambulances up and down America's highways!

"We're talking about attorneys who actually hop in their cars and go after speeding ambulances, hoping to land a juicy personal injury case by being the first one at the scene of an accident," said an aide to the California congressman who introduced the bill.

"But the states have refused to take action, so Congress is stepping in to make our roads a little safer — and the nation's legal system a little less sleazy."

The legislation calls for a $10,000 fine and imprisonment for up to a year for any lawyer convicted of chasing an ambulance in an effort to drum up business.

"Our investigation revealed that accidents of this kind are more common than most Americans imagine," said the bill's chief sponsor. "Twenty-one people were killed in accidents

BUSY MOM HANGS KIDS UP ON WALL WITH VELCRO!

JUST HANGIN' AROUND: Both Annette, 5, left, and Andrew, 4, get a kick out of hanging on their living room wall.

By KEN BASSETT / Weekly World News

Clever mom Irene Miranda never has to worry about her children getting underfoot, because whenever she needs time to herself she just sticks the kids to the wall with Velcro!

"Not only is it incredibly convenient to attach the kids to the wall when I want to clean the house, but my son and daughter just love to hang on the wall," the Chicago housewife said.

Mrs. Miranda said she came up with the idea because she couldn't get anything done in the house while her kids were around.

"They'd mess up the house as fast as I'd clean it up," she said. "I thought, if only I could keep the kids in one spot for 20 minutes, I could accomplish a whole lot of things.

"Then it hit me," Mrs. Miranda said. "You can stick just about anything anywhere with Velcro, so why not stick the kids to the wall?"

Mrs. Miranda sewed Velcro strips on the back of daughter Annette's jumpsuit and her son Andrew's overalls and then stuck the kids to a Velcro-covered panel on the wall. Annette, 5, and her 4-year-old brother both say that hanging on the Velcro wall in the living room is their favorite thing to do.

"It's fun," Annette said. "All our friends want to try it."

In fact, several moms in the neighborhood have asked Mrs. Miranda for help setting up Velcro walls in their own homes. But the housewife's wacky idea may soon turn into an international business.

A manufacturing firm that caught wind of the idea has asked Mrs. Miranda to design Velcro suits for the Japanese market.

"The company thinks this will really go over big in Japan," Mrs. Miranda said. "Since Japanese people are smaller than us, the whole family could hang on the wall together."

HARRIED housewife Irene Miranda couldn't control her kids — until she stuck the little rascals up on the wall with Velcro.

Pet owner bakes beagle to a crisp!

DAYTON, Ohio — A homeowner investigated after black smoke began pouring out of her oven — and found the body of her dog Buster inside, burned to a crisp!

The beagle apparently had crawled into the gas oven to warm himself after his owner left the door open for a moment. Later, his mistress turned on the oven to cook a meatloaf, not realizing the pooch was inside. The hapless dog had baked for at least 20 minutes in the 400-degree oven before he was discovered.

TOENAIL BITING!

New stress-related habit afflicts thousands of Americans!

HOW EMBARRASSING: Denise Lord gets ready to nibble on her toenails.

By LISA MERAKIS / Weekly World News

CHICAGO — Worried health experts are tracking a destructive new stress-related habit that is endangering the American population: Toenail biting!

According to Dr. David MacAwin, head of the Physicians for Better Health watchdog group, the peculiar practice is affecting more and more people. It is unsightly and embarrassing — and it can cause medical problems like infection, muscle pulls and even dislocated joints, he says.

CONCERNED Dr. MacAwin.

"This is a serious problem, no matter how ridiculous the behavior may seem," said Dr. MacAwin, a retired internist. "In 1979, only about 2 percent of the population suffered from the toenail-biting habit. Today that number has soared to a shocking 4 percent of Americans. That's a fourfold increase.

"We've seen patients who could not walk because of damage they had inflicted on their feet. One little boy had to have his right foot amputated. This is a major medical concern and we want to get the word out that it's dangerous and should be avoided."

The physician says more and more doctors around the country are reporting incidents of toenail biting, but the problem was not widely recognized. The growing problem has health officials worried because toenail biters are reluctant to seek help, Dr. MacAwin says.

"They are embarrassed to admit that when no one's looking they take off their shoes and socks and nibble on their toenails," he explained. "People in this country think of feet as smelly and ugly. Toenail biters are ashamed of their habit."

Dr. MacAwin advises closet toenail biters to see a doctor if habit by following these simple tips:

- Always wear lace-up shoes. "Make it difficult for yourself to give in to the toenail-biting urge by protecting yourself with shoes that take time and effort to remove."
- Use athlete's foot powder on your feet. "This will make the taste of toenails less appealing."
- Reduce stress in your life. "Toenail biting is associated with anxiety and feelings of pressure. Try to relax and bring down stress levels with meditation, exercise and restful hobbies."
- Tell a trusted friend about your problem. "Talking out your feelings about toenail biting will help you resist the urge," said Dr. MacAwin.
- Paint your toenails. "This works especially well for women. If you are proud of the appearance of your toenails, you are less likely to nibble them off."

AMAZING CAR RUNS ON GRASS!

DRAWING of the Chloromobile reveals an aerodynamic body design to complement the revolutionary engine.

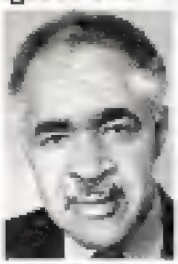
By RANDY JEFFRIES : Weekly World News

DETROIT, Mich. — If you're fed up with the expense and pollution of gasoline-burning cars, inventor David Aggilov has good news: Now there's an automobile that runs on dead leaves, dried weeds and grass clippings!

The car, known as the Chloromobile, has been in the works since the late 1960s when the ecology-conscious Aggilov launched a single-minded crusade to make the gas-burning engine obsolete.

The inventor says the lead-and-ozone-free fuel system is still being improved and will eventually run for 20 miles on just a pint-sized mass of leaves and dry grass.

A special energy conversion unit in the engine allows the highly combustible leaves, weeds and clippings from your yard to be burned in the cylinders instead of gas.



INVENTOR David Aggilov.

"The principle is very simple," says the 61-year-old genius.

"But trying to apply it in practice has taken almost 30 years. There are still some kinks, but at last I've got a prototype capable of converting vegetable matter into motor fuel."

'When word got out that I was making progress, my lab was fire-bombed — twice'

— David Aggilov

Aggilov says the powerful automobile industry refused to fund his project so he was forced to develop it at his own expense.

"First they laughed at me," he says. "Then they started avoiding me. But when word got out that I was making progress, my laboratory was fire-bombed — twice. I'm not saying it was the automakers but they certainly have plenty to lose. The oil companies, too, will lose a large part of their business when the Chloromobile goes on the market — hopefully by early next year."

Other experts say Aggilov is being overly optimistic.

"The car only goes about 15 miles per hour and it takes a huge amount of dried vegetation to fuel it," said one car company executive.

"And to function properly, the vegetation has to be dried for weeks. It's not at all cost-effective at this point."

Aggilov admits there are some bugs to work out but says he stands by his projections.

"It will be ready within a year — I'm sure of it," he said.

Experts to unleash brain-eating flies to wipe out fire ants!

GAINESVILLE, Fla. — Federal government scientists have hatched a bizarre scheme to release thousands of gruesome brain-eating flies from South America here in the U.S.!

The plan is designed to help cut down the population of pesky fire ants, according to Sanford D. Porter, a researcher with the Gainesville branch of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The Phorid fly swoops down and attacks the ant, injecting its egg into the helpless insect's body, the researcher explained.

Later, a maggot hatches and wriggles its way to the ant's head. There it releases a chemical that turns the doomed bug's brain to mush, which it feeds on — until the ant's head falls off! Although it's believed Phorid flies kill nothing but fire ants, one concerned expert warns that the feds should proceed with caution in unleashing the alien-like creatures in the U.S. "What if we let them loose and they attack everything in sight?"

New law will force rapists to get sex changes!

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — Finally! Officials here are at last taking serious steps to stop serial rapists in their tracks.

A no-nonsense proposal to be introduced in the state legislature this summer will mandate that any man convicted of rape a third time be forced to undergo a sex-change operation — then be incarcerated in a WOMEN'S prison!

"Put it this way: That will give the rapist a chance to see things from the female point of view," said one lawmaker who backs the proposed rule.

But the law faces some big hurdles. Not only is the usual civil liberties crowd whining about the sex bends' "Constitutional rights," even some feminists think the law may be going too far.

And legal experts say it's [illegible]

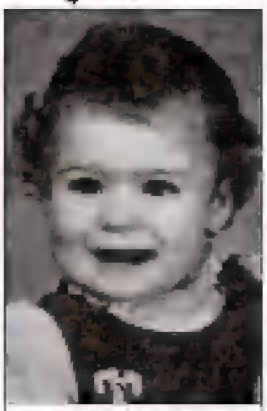
NO JUSTICE!

Man convicted of killing baby in 1975 still roams free — because of a clerical error!

CHILD-KILLER William Schank, 42, is fighting extradition back to Alabama for the fifth time in 15 years. He says it's inhumane for prosecutors to keep coming after him.



BEATEN TO DEATH: 1-year-old Dana Louise Smith.

By MICHAEL FORSYTH / Weekly World News

FORESTVILLE, N.Y. — In a case of justice gone haywire, a man convicted of beating a baby girl to death has never served a day in jail for the crime and remains beyond the reach of the law!

Lawmen say child-killer William Schank was mistakenly allowed to walk out of an Alabama prison after completing a sentence for burglary — because corrections officials were never informed he was ALSO supposed to serve a life sentence for murder!

Schank moved to New York State — where courts have ruled he can't be extradited back to Alabama because he is free due to a clerical error and never actually broke out of jail. What's more, a judge has threatened a New York prosecutor that if he keeps trying to send Schank back to prison, HE could wind up behind bars while the brutal baby butcher stays free.

1975 MUG SHOT: William Schank

"It's outrageous," fumed Joe Sexton, Sheriff of Tuscaloosa County, where the horrible crime took place. "We'd have an easier time extraditing this guy from Mexico!"

Schank was a boozing druggie back in 1975 when the woman he was living with left him to babysit her 1-year-old child Dana Louise Smith. When the tiny tot began to cry, Schank hit her.

Later Dana's body was found lifeless with about 100 bruises, including more than 40 knuckle-shaped marks on her stomach. Schank denied killing the baby, but was found guilty. He was also convicted on a separate burglary charge and started serving a sentence for burglary — and was told by jailers he was a free man.

"Somehow the transcript on the murder case didn't get from the court to corrections officials," said Sheriff Sexton. Alabama authorities say it wasn't until four days after Schank's release that they realized a gigantic goof had been made. By then, he had made his way up to Chautauqua County, N.Y.

Alabama has tried to extradite him four times over 15 years and the orders have been signed by three different New York governors. But Judge Lynn L. Hartley has repeatedly ruled that extradition laws say nothing about crooks released in error.

Meanwhile Schank — who at 42 is married, sober and working as a carpenter — complains it's inhumane for prosecutors to keep coming after him. "How can that be fair?" he asked a reporter.

And incredibly, the courts agree. Judge Hartley barred further attempts to extradite Schank, citing a rule that bans repeated litigation of matters that have already been adjudicated.

When D.A. Subjack recently launched a fifth extradition bid, Judge Vincent E. Doyle warned he might fine or imprison the prosecutor if he keeps pursuing Schank. But the D.A. says, "Our office is appealing to a higher court and we will that absurd. "The fact that Mr. Schank was released accidentally is irrelevant," he argued. "The issue is that he's a fugitive from justice. He never served any time for the murder."

Schank's attorney David G. Jay insists his client's release was intentional, not a bureaucratic blunder. He points to a letter from a probation officer at the time speculating that the release "appears related to federal court action forcing a reduction of overpopulation in Alabama penal institutions."

Playground stampede kills 28 schoolkids!

Schoolkids in a rush to get to the playground started a stampede that injured more than 100 and left 28 students dead!

The tragedy took place in a four-story school building in China's Shaanxi province as children squeezed into a narrow stairwell leading to the only exit. Teachers have pinpointed one third-grade boy who started the mad rush by pushing and elbowing other students.

'Hot-blooded hippo made love to my Jeep' . . . says shocked driver!

By JOE BERGER
Weekly World News

Wide-eyed wildlife boss Orin Rickles was nearly crushed like a bug when he parked along a remote riverbank in Africa — and a humongous, love-hungry hippo tried to mate with his Jeep!

"I was just sitting there when all of a sudden I heard a grunt and a rumble, and here he came," horrified Orin recalled. "It was too late to start my Jeep and drive away, so I hit the ground and took off running.

"When I finally looked back, the old fellow was all over that Jeep like a five-ton schoolboy on his first date. All four tires were flat and one foot was stuck in the middle of the seat I'd been sitting in 10 seconds earlier. There was no doubt in my mind what was going on. That poor guy thought he'd found himself the prettiest lady hippo in the whole wide world."

Unsuspecting Orin ran afoul of the hot-blooded hippo a few weeks ago while surveying storm damage on a game preserve he supervises outside Pretoria, South Africa.

"I stopped at the river to relax, and I guess I got a little too relaxed because I never saw that beast coming till he was too close for comfort," laughed the bewildered wildlife chief.

"I could see by the look in his eye that he had romantic designs on either me or my Jeep, so I just got the hell out of there — and I was greatly relieved when I turned around and saw it was my Jeep he was after."

Shook-up Orin, 48, spent the next hour hollering and hurling rocks at the lumbering lover boy, hoping to scare him away from his four-wheel sweetie. But the confused critter refused to budge.

"I wanted to call for somebody to come get me, but my radio was under 10,000 pounds of hippo, so I was throwing things at him to scare him away," said the red-faced former policeman.

"But no matter what I did, he kept cuddling up to that Jeep and trying to mate with the damn thing. After a while I could see that buggy was never gonna run again so I decided to just walk away and give the old boy a little privacy."

Ticked-off Orin hit the road and hiked more than nine miles back to headquarters in 82-degree heat.

Kids' 5 BIGGEST fears!

An amazing new psychological study reveals kids are almost as afraid of being sent to the principal's office as they are of being struck by a car.

Psychologists say the five biggest fears of children are:

1. Getting lost in a strange place.
2. Being scolded by their fathers.

Parents: Here's how you can protect your kids from evil

You can protect your child from evil supernatural forces by following the advice of a top expert in the paranormal.

By MIKE FOSTER
Weekly World News

"Children face a tremendous risk from unseen malevolent beings," says respected psychic researcher Joanne Pliser. "Their open, imaginative minds put them in close contact with the Other Side — and their innocence makes them easy prey.

RESEARCHER Joanne Pliser.

"It's important for parents to recognize the warning signs and be prepared to take swift, appropriate action."

Here, from the expert, are the six forms of unnatural evil most likely to affect your child, and how to combat them:

SINISTER IMAGINARY FRIENDS — Some "invisible playmates" are actually ghosts, researchers have found. "Quiz your child about the unseen pal," suggests New York City-based Miss Pliser. "Ask if the 'friend' talks about having hurt people in the past or encourages your child to do dangerous things. If so, firmly tell the youngster he or she can't play with the spirit anymore."

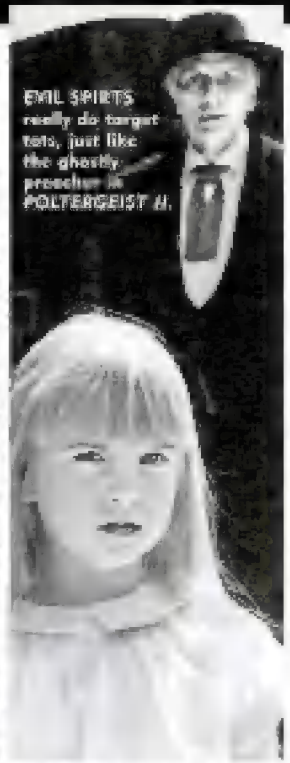
POSSESSED TOYS — Minor demons often get close to children by inhabiting their playthings. Keep a watchful eye on toys and note if they refuse to stay put, or do things — such as talk — that are not mentioned on the box they came in.

Realistic baby dolls are the most frequently possessed, and Slinkys among the least, said Miss Pliser. "Throw out any toys which appear possessed."

HAUNTED BEDROOM — If your child constantly has nightmares or complains about a "bogeyman" in the closet, watch out. There may actually be an evil entity stalking the tot. If the child fears his own room, but sleeps normally at the homes of friends and relatives, have a minister bless the room.

"It's also important to teach your child to use his own innate psychic abilities to shield himself from evil," says the expert.

"Tell the child to draw with his finger an invisible 'force field' that monsters can't cross. It can really work!"



EVIL SPIRITS really do target tots, just like the ghostly preacher in POLTERGEIST II.

POLTERGEISTS — If accidents often occur around your child, with objects breaking every day, this is a sign of poltergeist activity.

Most poltergeists are harmless, and their influence generally fades after the child passes through puberty. Placing sea salt in the corners of each room tends to subdue bad ones.

DEMONIC POSSESSION — Never allow children to play with occult items such as Ouija boards — they may unwittingly invite a demon into your home. Episodes of violent rage and harming animals are common signs of demonic possession. If you are suspicious, confront your child with a crucifix. If the youngster hisses and tries to flee, contact a clergyman to arrange an exorcism.

HEXES — If your child suffers frequent unexplained sickness, this is a sign a practitioner of witchcraft has placed a hex on your family. If you suspect a neighbor, ask whether you have offended the person and what you can do to make amends. Said Miss Pliser, "Once you've made amends, most witches will remove the hex."

YOUNGSTERS' hidden psychic powers can cause heartache, as shown in this scene from the movie Carrie.

Government puts space aliens in witness protection program!

The U.S. government has placed four frightened space aliens in a federal witness protection program, sources say — because other aliens are trying to find them and kill them!

The friendly spacemen were rescued from their crippled craft in February. At that time, they told officials about a colony of sinister extraterrestrials currently hiding on Earth.

Now they're terrified the would have to be protected 24 hours a day," said an FBI source. "There was no other option than to hide them in the witness protection program."

IS YOUR RIGHT BRAIN ARGUING WITH YOUR LEFT?

OXFORD, England — You can totally eliminate inner conflict from your life — by having half of your brain removed!

Researchers here have discovered that personal crisis is usually caused by "disputes" between the right and left halves of the brain.

Unfortunately, the radical surgery is an impractical option for most healthy people, because it can result in partial paralysis.

Villagers worship Siamese twin cows!

SIAMESE COWS are joined at the head and move by shuffling sideways. Villagers consider the freaks to be living gods.

By JUNE SAWYER, Weekly World News

GULU, Uganda — Farmer Onu Rukiina is the proud owner of a pair of Siamese twin cows — that are worshipped as gods by his neighbors!

The mind-boggling bosses are joined at the head and move around by shuffling sideways. Their peculiar physical problems have convinced the people of the town that they are living deities.

"They were sent to my village from Heaven as a special sign," said Rukiina. "They are a double blessing and they ensure many more blessings for my family and my people.

"We have to feed the cows by hand because grazing is difficult for them, but it's worth it. Tourists pay a lot of money to see them. They are a big attraction."

Rukiina says he sold his wife's jewelry to buy bells for the cows, whose names Beko and Dasa are magical words representing fertility and power. He brings the cows out of their stable twice a day for special appearances in front of dozens of paying customers.

"They can be difficult to manage because Beko hates walking backward and so does Dasa," the farmer said. "They have to back out of the stable door somehow and they're always fighting over which one goes in reverse."

Rukiina says the cows were born two years ago and are in excellent health.

"I spoil them a little, but they're worth it," said the farmer. "They bring me luck."

EARTH-SHAKING EXPERIENCE! Women are warned not to leave home after taking one of the tablets

Amazing scientific breakthrough!

New pill triggers super orgasms in women!

PARIS — In what is being called the most astounding breakthrough ever in the field of human biochemistry, scientists have created a new pill that triggers sexual orgasms in women!

By ANN VICTORIA
Weekly World News

The aspirin-size tablet is taken orally and acts within 30 minutes, stimulating the vagus nerve and key areas of the brain. It produces waves of euphoric pleasure lasting from a few seconds all the way up to two minutes in some women.

Experts say the sensation is even more intense than normal orgasms.

The pill's creator, French scientist Dr. Monica Dubloises, says her formula is based on the research of dozens of brilliant physicians, sexologists and biologists worldwide.

"I was just fortunate enough to discover it first," Beverly Whipple recently announced they had isolated an orgasm-creating chemical that the body itself produces.

"I was aware of that chemical for some time and created a synthetic form of it."

The pill, known as "Synthetic Vasoactive Intestinal Peptide" may be available in France, by prescription only, as early as November of this year. Women will be warned not to take more than five in a tablet. But many experts are wary of it.

"We have no idea what repercussions this pill may have," says famed psychologist Dr. Rose Brelle, author of Society and Addiction: The Interaction of Drugs and Human Relationships. "If women grow too attached to this pill and begin to prefer it to actual sexual intercourse with men, it could result in the demise of our entire species."

Does Russia really have missiles on the moon?

Dear Serena: Everyone made a big deal out of it when Communism ended in Russia but I've always believed it was just a big trick. Then I read that they have put missiles launchers on the moon to give them a big advantage in case they ever decided to attack us.

Now I hear it's much worse than that. A friend of mine told me he saw in an underground newspaper that there are actually laboratories and at least 600 real, live soldiers and scientists up there. That's far more the U.S. government believes is up there. And if these scientists can produce weapons while they're on the moon, then we're really in big trouble. Please give it to us straight, Serena — is it worse than we realize? — Frightened in Crane

Dear Frightened: Unfortunately, much of what you have been reading is true and U.S. officials are very concerned. There are evil forces inside the Russian government who are undermining President Boris Yeltsin's authority. They are Communists who want to return to the days when the United States and Russia were fierce enemies. This military buildup on the moon is part of their dangerous plot. Multinational forces are currently working frantically to combat this escalating problem before it gets completely out of control.

Dear Serena: Did my roommate steal my hair drier? I have a feeling she took it with her when she spent the night at her boyfriend's apartment and then just left it there. She says that she didn't, but everybody knows she's a liar. If you tell me she did it, I'll confront her and make her give it back to me. — Angry in College Park

Dear Angry: The blow drier fell into the trash can in the bathroom two weeks ago. When you took out the trash you accidentally threw it in the dumpster. It's gone forever now — just buy a new one.

Dear Serena: When will I get a decent job? I've been working in a bakery for 16 years and every moment has been agony. Will I ever have my own business, where I have people working for me? — Unhappy in San Diego

Dear Unhappy: If you want to have your own business, you're going to have to get on the ball. Join your younger brother in his bike rental business, and within four years you'll be running the show. But you've got to make a sincere commitment now and work hard for you and your brother to succeed.

Controversial 5-year study proves . . .

LOOKING AT BIG BOOBS ADDS YEARS TO A MAN'S LIFE!

JUST 10 minutes of chest-watching a couple of D-cups will cut a man's risk of heart attack in half.

Great news for girl watchers: Ogling women's breasts is good for a man's health and can add years to his life, medical experts have discovered.

"Just 10 minutes of staring at the charms of a well-endowed female such as Baywatch actress Pamela Lee is equivalent to a 30-minute aerobics workout," declared gerontologist Dr. Franz Epping.

By MIKE FOSTER
Weekly World News

Dr. Epping and fellow researchers at three hospitals in Frankfurt, Germany, reached the startling conclusion after comparing the health of 200 male outpatients — half of whom were instructed to look at busty females daily, the other half told to refrain from doing so.

The study revealed that after five years, the chest-watchers had lower blood pressure, slower resting pulse rates and fewer instances of coronary artery disease.

"Sexual excitement gets the heart pumping and improves blood circulation," explains Dr. Epping.

"There's no question: Gazing at large breasts makes men healthier. Our study indicates that engaging in this activity a few minutes daily cuts the risk of stroke and heart attack in half."

Dr. Epping suggested that men over the age of 40 spend at least 10 minutes a day looking at breasts sized "D-cup" or greater.

"We believe that by doing so consistently, the average man can extend his life four to five years."

Dr. Epping says he would advise U.S. males to watch "jiggle" shows on TV, rent low-budget women-in-prison movies and peruse men's magazines such as Playboy as often as possible.

The expert also listed several 'hosomy celebs whose headlights were most likely to yield a beneficial health effect.

These amply endowed "angels of mercy" include Dolly Parton, Heather Locklear, Anna Nicole Smith and Demi Moore.

Wife chops off hubby's head — because he accused her of cheating on him!

By RANDY JEFFRIES
Weekly World News

CAIRO, Egypt — Loyal housewife Mashhouna al-Dabbour never once cheated on her husband in their entire 10-year marriage. So when he accused her of having an affair she got a little miffed — and whacked his head off with a meat cleaver!

Then the maligned wife chopped the head into tiny pieces and tried to bury it in the yard.

Friends say there had been no signs of domestic violence at the al-Dabbour home before the bizarre murder. A neighbor called the police after hearing strange noises coming from the house.

When cops arrived, they found Mashhouna dumping husband Abdul's severed ears, nose and lips into a shallow backyard grave.

"I can't stand it when someone says I did something I didn't do," said the woman.

Every man wastes part of his life in attempts to display qualifications which he does not possess.

Humiliating questionnaire has

for women IN ATLANTA

VICTIMIZED TWICE! Rape victims are forced to fill out humiliating questionnaire by doubting cops.

ATLANTA, Ga. — A woman who cries rape is probably a scheming liar who's made up her accusation out of the blue!

That appears to be the view of the Atlanta Police Department, if you judge by the outrageous questionnaire investigators use to interrogate women reporting sexual attacks.

Having just been subjected to the most degrading abuse imaginable, weeping rape victims are bombarded by insulting questions that suggest they're not to be trusted.

Here's a sickening sample:

"Did you make up your complaint against the suspect?"

"Did you lie in any of the information you have given earlier on this form?"

"Would you like to change any of the information you have given?"

"What would you say if it was later found that you lied on this form?"

"Should we believe your answers to the questions?"

"If your answer to the last question was yes, give us one reason why."

Even a 13-year-old girl — who was asleep in bed when two men climbed in a window and brutally violated her — was told to fill out the humiliating form.

The prosecutor pursuing that case is outraged.

"Victims of other crimes such as burglary and car theft aren't asked to fill out any such questionnaire. Why should rape victims be singled out as less trustworthy?" demanded DeKalb County District Attorney J. Tom Morgan.

"This is terribly demeaning to rape victims — it's telling them the cops don't believe what they're saying."

Police can best determine whether or not a witness is lying in a face-to-face interview, he pointed out. "Use of this form is a sign of laziness."

Morgan is convinced the forms discourage rape victims from helping to put their attackers behind bars. "I have no doubt that some women who already are reluctant about cooperating with the criminal justice system become even more reluctant thanks to this form."

Atlanta police defend the questionnaire, claiming it helps toughen up women for the grilling they're likely to receive in court from defense attorneys.

"I consider it a very useful tool," Lt. Donna Burns, commander of the sex crimes unit, told The Atlanta Constitution.

But victims' rights advocates disagree. Nikki Berger, acting director of the local Grady Rape Crisis Center, said, "I think this questionnaire definitely has to be re-evaluated."

Would YOU answer these controversial questions?

1. Describe in detail what happened on _____.
2. Please write in detail anything you would like us to know about your complaint. How would you explain this? Please write in detail your ideas that would account for this.
3. List the five most important causes that could have caused this situation.
4. Write in detail about your relationship with [the suspect].
5. Before you answer the following questions, we would like to inform you that each word of your answer will be evaluated. We would like for you [to] take your time and think before you answer.
6. Did you lie in any of the information you have given earlier on this form?
7. Did you make up your complaint against the suspect?
8. Did you withhold any significant information in what you have given earlier on this form?
9. Would you like to change any of the information you have given?
10. How do you feel now that you have completed this form?
11. Should we believe your answers to the questions?
12. If your answer to the last question was yes, give us one reason why.
13. What would you say if it was later found that you lied on this form?
14. While filling out this form, what were your emotions?
15. Were you afraid while completing this form?
16. Did you ever discuss with anybody the possibility and reasons that caused this complaint?

YOU BE THE JUDGE

Should cops continue to use the controversial rape questionnaire? Check one box.

☐ YES! False reports of rape are a big problem today and any technique that can be used to weed out liars is fine by me.

☐ NO! These disgraceful questionnaires are an insult to women everywhere. Atlanta should stop using them — immediately.

The way you sleep reveals the relationship

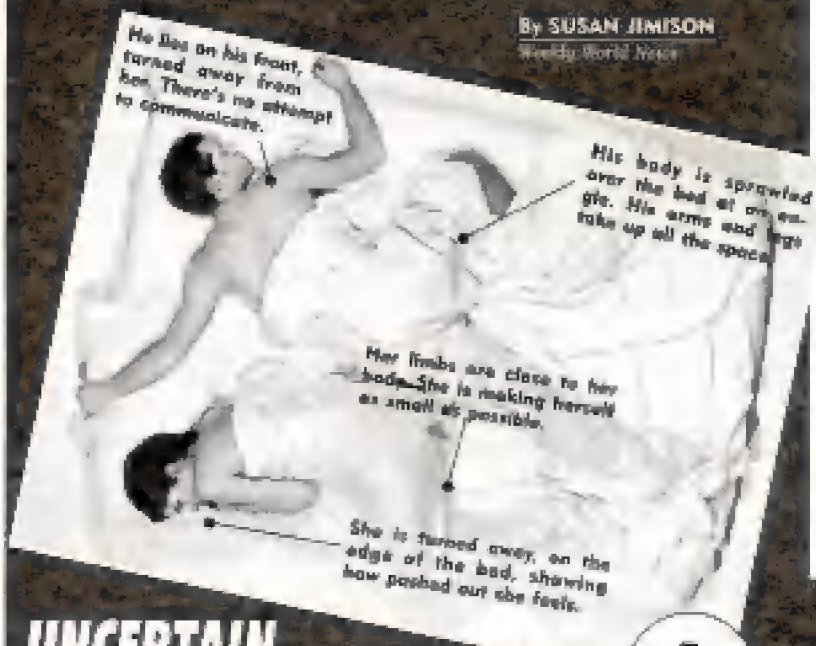
You can tell a lot about your relationship with a mate or lover — just by analyzing your body language when you're asleep in bed together.

Do you sleep intertwined, or escape from each other to the far edges of the bed? Do you face one another, or do you turn your backs?

Here, top psychologists tell what five common sleeping positions reveal about you and your partner.

To determine what your body language is saying, find the photo that most closely resembles your usual sleeping arrangement.

By SUSAN JIMISON
Weekly World News



1 UNCERTAIN

Couples who sleep like this are still unsure about where their relationship is headed. The partner on home territory is comfortable, spread out and sleeping as if he's alone. The other partner has been pushed into a small space and sleeps as if she's trying to take up as little room as she can. These nighttime positions indicate that lovers haven't worked out how to share their space yet. They're not quite comfortable with

2 WORLDS APART

There's trouble ahead for this couple. Their sleeping positions indicate a distance between them on a psychological — as well as a physical — level. Hugging a pillow, assuming the fetal position and turning their backs on one another is another tip-off that this man and woman feel alone when they're together. If you and your loved one sleep like this after an argument, don't worry. Generally you'll be in each other's arms before morning just out of force of habit.

TALK! truth about your with your mate!

4 SECURE IN LOVE

Here's a sleeping position that demonstrates intimacy on every level. There's lots of body contact and total ease between the two partners. Couples who sleep this way have probably passed through the first highly sexual phase of their relationship and have relaxed into a deep and friendly love affair. They don't need to look deeply into one another's eyes as they drift in and out of sleep. They're secure in their love for one another.

EMOTIONALLY INVOLVED

This sleeping position shows deep interdependence, a good sign that the relationship is a close one. One person lies on his back, the other curls around him with face-to-face contact that permits nuzzling, talking — and kissing. In this sleeping posture, one partner is encircled by the strong, protective arm of the other. If you and your loved one sleep together in this position, chances are you are deeply emotionally involved.

SO MUCH IN LUST

This is a lovers' sleeping position, an intertwined, [illegible] contact posture that is as close as you can get to lovemaking without actually doing it. Couples who spend their nights in this loving embrace are in lust as well as in love, and they spend

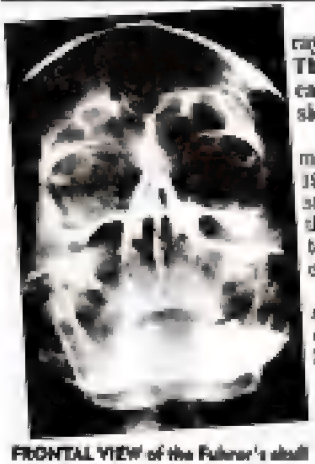
SECRET X-RAYS OF HITLER'S BRAIN FOUND!



FRONTAL VIEW of the Fuhrer's skull taken by Dr. Erwin Giesing after the assassination attempt in 1944.

KEW GARDENS, England — Newly discovered X-rays of Adolf Hitler's brain reveal a stunning abnormality: The Nazi dictator had massive intelligence but almost no capacity for higher human emotions like empathy, compassion and justice!

The cranial X-rays, taken almost 53 years ago, on Sept. 19, 1944, indicate there was substantial electrical activity on the left side of the cerebral cortex — the area that controls cold, calculating logic.

But the right brain — the seat of intuition, empathy and other noble qualities of thought had hardly been used at all.

The X-rays also show that the connector neurons in the corpus colosum were frantically active in the reasoning parts of the cerebrum, but were all but dormant in the areas associated with compassion and warmth.

By RANDY JEFFRIES
Weekly World News

"What all this means, in short, is that Adolf Hitler was able to think with a detached, computer-like logic," said noted German brain specialist Dr. Ludwig Gretsch.

"But he was almost completely devoid of any ability to care, to love, feel in his heart what others are feeling."

The incredible X-rays were taken after Hitler was injured during an assassination attempt. The Nazi leader suffered injuries to his ears and sinuses when a bomb exploded in his Rastenburg headquarters.

On the orders of Hitler's personal physician, Dr. Theo Morell, specialist Dr. Erwin Giesing was called in to examine the German leader. He ordered X-rays be taken. They were captured by the allies and stored by the British War Office for more than 30 years before they were transferred to the record office here in 1966. Specialists are assessing repairs needed to restore the fading X-ray prints, now held in a safe room where only a few experts are allowed.

Dr Gretsch made his stunning diagnoses just last month after studying them extensively for a research paper.

ARIES
Mar. 21 – Apr. 19

All signs indicate that this week is the time to tackle an unpleasant chore that you have neglected too long. Roll up your sleeves and get to work right away.

Your decisiveness and leadership ability may be tested in the days ahead when others look to you for guidance.

Rely on your common sense and trust your instincts.

TAURUS
Apr. 20 – May 20

Proceed with caution in the event that an unusual opportunity comes your way this week. If you receive an offer that seems too good to be true, watch out.

Your typical laziness could cause friction when others get the impression that you aren't carrying your share of the load. You can avoid a bad scene by doing what is expected of you.

Your lucky color is blue.

GEMINI
May 21 – June 20

Your unflinching loyalty and devotion to a loved one during a sudden crisis have given others a good cause to take a closer look at you. This week you'll learn exactly who has changed their opinion about you.

Making easy work of difficult tasks is a gift you have been blessed with all your life. Put your abilities to good use by taking on some new challenges.

CANCER
June 21 – July 22

You are following a path that leaves you bored and unfulfilled. Put yourself on a new and rewarding course this week — and don't be frightened when things don't go your way from the very beginning.

A close friend secretly yearns for your approval. A mere pat on the back will give him the necessary confidence to get the job done in a surprisingly successful manner.

LEO
July 23 – Aug. 22

Setbacks in a project you've been working long and hard at may get you down this week. Cheer up and keep plugging away — you'll come out on top in the end.

A short trip may be necessary on the weekend.

Don't put it off because of other projects.

Your curiosity will help you uncover something of surprising value.

VIRGO
Aug. 23 – Sept. 22

Congratulations — you've been toiling in the shadows of others for some time and this week will be your chance to break out and get your just rewards.

Romance may seem to be on the decline, but the stars say you may have some torrid times ahead with a special someone.

You'll see something that will shock you Friday.

LIBRA
Sept. 23 – Oct. 22

Things are looking up as your hard work and sacrifice are finally paying off. Take steps this week to boost sagging morale and self-confidence by sprucing up your wardrobe and enhancing your appearance.

Someone from your past could reappear suddenly and cause some stress at home or work. Be prepared.

You'll have a good deal of luck soon — all of it good.

SCORPIO
Oct. 23 – Nov. 21

Don't let someone else's big mouth get you in trouble this week. Hold your tongue when you feel like you want to respond with an angry tone.

You could be in for a big surprise when you go to the mailbox later in the week. But don't be too quick to reach into your wallet to shell out money you can't afford to lose.

Strive to understand why other people behave the way they do.

SAGITTARIUS
Nov. 22 – Dec. 21

A troublesome problem may be resolved this week as you discover some facts that will let you work everything out. Be wary of unsolicited advice. Many people want to tell you how to live your life, but few of them will be there to bail you out of trouble.

You will laugh a lot in the middle of the week. Share your joy with others as often as you can.

CAPRICORN
Dec. 22 – Jan. 19

A golden opportunity for profit may come your way this week if you keep your eyes open. Stay alert and you could be rewarded in a surprising manner.

Your love life will take a surprising twist that will affect you for months into the future.

A close relative will probably seek guidance in a very personal matter.

Lucky numbers: 4, 12 and 22.

AQUARIUS
Jan. 20 – Feb. 18

Check weather patterns carefully this week before taking that trip you've been planning for a while. Don't let the whole deal turn into an ordeal for you and your family.

Try to be more positive about your future, even when it appears everything is taking a turn for the worse.

Be flexible when dealing with others. Losing your temper will only get you in trouble.

PISCES
Feb. 19 – Mar. 20

Friends or co-workers may try to belittle you this week because of their own insecurities. Don't let them rattle you — it's just their way of inflating their own ego.

You may be offered a great opportunity to jump ahead in the next few days. Don't step on anyone's toes on your way up — or you may pay for it later.

A new friend is looking for love.

If your birthday is this week... Mon., May 5 – Sun., May 11

This year could prove to be a banner one financially if you pay attention to the good advice people want to give you.

But be careful, this doesn't mean all the advice is worthy. Be careful about who you listen to. Short trips offer opportunities to relax. Take advantage of weekend jaunts whenever you can.

Everglades airboaters' chilling encounter with . . .

GHOSTS OF Valulet FLIGHT 592

CLOSE ENCOUNTER: Scared-stiff John & Ruby Gilmond refused to proceed to the exact spot of their encounter and would only point to the area, above.

MIAMI, Fla. — Even the most fearless airboaters and bass fishermen won't go within a mile of the site where Valu-Jet flight 592 crashed into the Everglades — because they say the place is haunted by the restless ghosts of the dead passengers!

By RANDY JEFFRIES
Weekly World News

The ill-fated DC-9 went down almost exactly one year ago on May 11 — under still-mysterious circumstances — taking 109 passengers to a watery grave. Since then, locals have been reporting bizarre and terrifying phenomena in the area.

Rugged nature enthusiasts John and Ruby Gilmond know firsthand why no one visits the site anymore. They saw, heard and felt the wrath of the angry spirits just 30 days after the tragic accident. Here, exclusively for Weekly World News readers, is the chilling account of their ordeal:

"I was never so scared in my life," admits macho airboat owner John, 32. "We used to go into that part of the glades all the time before the wreck. But the first time we went there afterward, our airboat stalled mysteriously.

"When I started it back up it wouldn't steer properly. No matter how hard we tried, we couldn't get out. We were stuck there from noon until sunset.

"We were about to radio for help — which I hate to do — when we heard the sound of unearthly voices, moaning and crying. I asked Ruby, 'What is that?' And we started drifting toward the sound."

Ruby, 28, was the first to actually see the spirits. "At first I thought it was just steam rising off the water about 200 yards ahead of us," she says. "But as we got closer, we saw that there were four figures — three men and a woman. They hovered about four feet off the surface. There was blood on their heads and bodies and there was anger and confusion in their eyes.

"Suddenly the four of them grabbed the boat and started shaking it. 'Why did it happen?' they screamed. 'Why did we die?'"

The Gilmonds say the frightening wraiths shook the boat and screamed for at least four minutes before letting go and sinking below the surface and

STILL SHAKEN: John & Ruby use actual crash-site photos to pinpoint for our reporter the exact location of their meeting with the restless ghosts of the dead passengers.

And we did — fast," says John.

The Gilmonds are by no means the only people to see the ghosts. Since the crash, the NEWS has received more than 200 calls, letters and faxes from others, relating similar experiences.

on condition of anonymity: "The higher-ups don't like us to talk about these things because they don't want the unfavorable publicity. But anyone who has spent any time at all out here knows about the spir-
